

Lifeways Community Care selects PulseLearning as a compliance learning partner

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Dorset, United Kingdom - 30 August 2010 - Lifeways selected PulseLearning's PulseCare solution because of PulseLearning's expertise in the design, development and delivery of high-quality care-specific training and assessment. Lifeways, known for its innovative and holistic approach to care, has partnered with leading care eLearning provider PulseLearning to create a comprehensive induction assessment.

Lifeways' high standards require that all new team members pass a thorough and challenging induction assessment within the first 12 weeks of employment. The assessment created by PulseLearning will contain a bank of questions from which a subset are drawn - covering each topic area. This ensures that the test is different for each user and cannot be memorised.

The courses will include a Lifeways-branded interface, customised and bespoke content, animations, assessment and audio to help diverse learners acquire the knowledge, skills and attitudes needed to excel in their professions. The courses will be accredited. The SCORM-compliant courses will be designed to work with Lifeway's Learning Management System (LMS), enabling complete progress tracking and compliance audit reporting.

Lifeways decided to partner with PulseLearning because they are recognized experts in the design, development and production of business-critical compliance training. This, coupled with their understanding of the care industry, makes them an ideal partner for the development of compliance and safety-critical training across our business.

Tracie Marriner
Workforce Development Manager, Lifeways

We're thrilled to be Lifeways partner for the development of a comprehensive induction assessment. Lifeways has chosen PulseLearning because of the expert nature of our people, our products and our services. PulseCare is designed as a complete solution for compliance training delivery within care alone – removing the need to compromise.
