

Senior Instructional Designer (Technical Training) - Freelance

---

Reference Number

SIDT_Freelance

Description

PulseLearning is embarking on a new growth phase. We are looking for seasoned freelancers for upcoming projects. You will be joining an internationally recognized brand that provides award-winning, world-class products and services to global clients. You will be joining a truly dynamic and driven group of professionals. Our freelancers work from the comfort of their own home.

If you are passionate about learning and want to shape the future, yet remain flexible in a freelance capacity, submit your profile by uploading your résumé and including a link to your online portfolio if available.

PulseLearning is continuously building relationships and exploring new and exciting partnerships. If you are an individual freelancer, a small company or agency, we encourage you to apply.

Required Experience and Skills

- 4+ years of instructional design experience, writing software training material
- 4+ years of working with the high-tech companies
- Excellent understanding of the latest thinking in adult learning concepts and techniques
- Ability to plan ahead and lead multiple projects at once, while still achieving quality and deadline objectives
- Prior experience delivering training to a global audience, with ability to build rapport across a wide range of cultures and personalities
- Ability to facilitate working sessions with senior leaders to gather learning objectives and content requirements for learning programs
- Familiarity with the functionality of screen capture development tools, such as (but not limited to) Captivate and Storyline
- Ability to work a flexible schedule and embrace change enthusiastically
- Excellent writing and interpersonal skills
- Upbeat and results-oriented with a positive attitude
- Ability and willingness to travel globally (occasional travel required)
- Experience working in a boutique eLearning company